The Battle of Kassassin. London, Aug. 30.—The Daily Telegraph has the following dispatch, dated Ismallia, Aug. 28;

When morning came great excitement prevailed in our camp at Kass-asin in consequence of Egypin our camp at Kassa-sain in consequence of Egyptians showing themselves in considerable force in various directions. General Graham presently tent Major Hart, with an escort of mounted inlantry under command of Lieutenaut Pigott, to ascertain the strength and exact position of the snemy. Major Hart proceeded in the direction of Tel-el-Kebir, and had gone forward two miles when the enemy opened fire with two guns. Lieutenant Pigott dismounted his men and returned the fire briskly, his men holding their ground well for some time, though eventually they were shliged to retire upon our camp. About 10 o'clock shilged to retire upon our camp. About 10 o'clock 4,000 nebours appeared an our right and front extending two miles, but on the guns opening fire on them they retired. About 3 o'clock their infantry advanced in open stree upon our teft, bringing up several guns, which they placed at short distances from each which they placed at short distances from each other, and presently showed several pieces of artillery on our right. Our guns opened fire, and our men turned out to face the attack. The fight and warm, and during the whole afternoon the gallant little garrison made a good defines. Meanwhile the cavalry, which was five miles in our rear, had been twice signalled by General Graham to support him, and had advanced a loost to our vestilion without encounter. wanced almost to our position without encounter-ing the enemy. By 7:30 p. m. the whole force, consisting of the First and Second Life Guards, the Horse Guards, the Seventh Dragoons, part of the Fourth Dragoous, and the Nine centh Hussars, with four guns, set out to succor the troops at Kas-ussin. The march had to be made very cauflously. The moon was rising and showed

THE LITTLE ARMY OF HORSEMEN to strange advantage as they passed over the shingly ground, the clauking of their swords swelling musically through the air. Colonel Stewart, who directed the course of the brigade, disposed the men so excellently that he was able to pilot them safely to the point of contact without coming under the fire of the guns, which were way along the ridge with the idea of outflanking the enemy and turning his position. Colonel Russell brought his men over four miles of heavy ground, so that by 9 o'clock, when they silen'ly halted on the stay line, they found themselves so close to the Egyptians that the SHELLS WENT OVER THEIR HEAD in quick succession, landing nearly half a mile in their rear. From the position the cavalry had now gained they could see the enemy close on the sorizon in very large numbers; whereupon Colonel Russell dismounted the cavalry and ordered them to open a sharp muskerry fire, but they found that the enemy was closer than they had anticipated. Just then Major-General Lowe dashed up and gave the words of command to "mount," form in line, and "charge!" Ecarcely had the words been uttered when the Household Cavalry and Dragoons rapidly obeyed the order, and, with suppressed, a very few moments the horsemen had charged the enemy with great bravery, and, our guns hav me ceased firing, mingled with the Egyp-

CUT THEM UP SERIOUSLY. A general rout hereupon ensued, Arabi's artillerymen geiting their guns away, while his infantry fell into a disordered mass upon the banks of the canal, a few dashing into the water to save themselves. It would be difficulty to imagine a more complete success than was seen. The bravery of the cavalry in thus grandly chargng a blind position, the strength of which t was impossible to tell, rendered the enemy almost psnic stricken. Russell's horse fell dead, but he seized another, and before the enemy's position was gained was well in front once more. The enemy fell back rapidly; nor is this to be wondered at when the race between the various regiments of English cavalry is considered, in which the Seventh Dragoon Guards exerted themselves beyond descrip Son to be first, plying their sabres with considers ble alacrity. In this way our position at Kassas-in leading to Tel-el-Kebir. Great bravery and perlinacity were shown during the day by the mounted infantry and the detachment of the Fourth Dragoons, with them Lieutenaut Figot, was wounded. All along the line the greatest care had been taken to provide for emergencies, which shows how judicious are the arrangement of General Wolseley. For the sake of fairness should mention that the men and horses who took part in this galiant achievement had worked nearly twenty-four hours on empty stomachs, but never dreamed of grumbling.

was refleved.

THE BRITISH CAVALRY CHARGED STRAIGHT at the guns, sabering the gunners as they passed, and cutting down the flying in autry beyond them. The battle was ended at a stroke. A scene Our infantry at Kassassin had a hot time. Hundreds of shall burst in the confined space. The sheller trenches afforded but insufficient pro-hector. The Egyptians came on with great bravery, and in spite of the heavy fire of our men were rapidly gaining ground and would soon have rushed upon our intrenchments, when the roar of our guns on their left, followed by the such of our cavairy, proved too much for thom, and from that moment they thought only of high. About 10 o'clock the cavairy came in in high spirits over their brilliant achievment. Ing Turkish troops attacked the Greeks all along the darkness, but they will, as d abb, turn up in the morning. Upon their paturn from the pursuit they were unable to find the guns over which they charged, but these will continue, and gendarmes to the guns over which they charged, but these will 1,000 infantry, artillery, and gendarmes to the footier. They stood five to one in favor of conviction.

How an Illinois Cashier Helped Robbers to Get Away With the Funds. CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 23.—A special from Kewa-nec, Ill., says: "Great excitement prevails here over the arrest of Pratt, the cashler of the First National Bank, on a charge of complicity in the ecent robbery of that bank, in which the thieves got away with $20,000. The arrest has just been made, and the detectives claim to have plenty of evidence to sustain the charge. Pratt was not suspected at first, but the more the detectives hunted for clews the more they became convinced that Welch and his accomplice had juside help. The value being left at the bank, the subsequent call for it, and the locking up of the cashic; and his assistant, Miss Harris, in the vault were all prestranged. The detectives feel confident of being ultimately able to recover all the money being ultimately able to recover all the money stolen. A valise containing $300 of the stoles money was found in a cornfield, near this place." CRICAGO, August 29.—Frank N. Welch, who was arce-ted three or four days ago at McDonough N. Y., for robbing the First National Bank of Kowanee, Iii., passed through this city this evening en route for Kewanee in charge of the detectives who arrested him. The reporters for the press were not allowed to see him, but at the detective agency which has charge of this case it is said he made a confession which in effect is that Dr. J. S. Scott, of St. Louis, but formerly a resident of Kewance, planned the robbery, though he took no direct part in it; that Pratt, acting cashler of the bank, was a party to it; that, instead of the large sum in gold missing being carried away in a valise with the other money, it was Pratt bimself who carried it of previous to the day when he (Welch) and his companion locked Pratt and Miss Harris in the vault and carried away the remainder, mostly in paper money. Welch refuses to give the name of the man who helped him in the job, but the detectives are confident they will get the right man. Weich says Dr. Scott introduced him to Pratt, and that some time ago Pratt paid a check drawn on the bank by Welch. When it was discovered the pay ment was thought to be the result of Prait's ig-norance. Weich hat no money in the bank, Scott is said to be chiefly known in Kewanee as a poker player. The agency here received advices to-day of the arrest of Scott in St. Louis. He is to be brought here. 6ns Explosion and Fire

A FUNNY MAN.

It is one of the slingular arrangements of Providence that, in any company of fifty persons, selected at random, you will almost hevitably include a funny man, a sentimental party one or two disagreembly loud and indessant tarkers, severit good singers, one or two who take the lead in all business matters, and the remainder quiet people, who in the outerfainment appear as audience. Our fanny man is from Baltimo o, and so great a success as absolutely to erne several people of sensickness on the occun tr.p. The other characters are well represented.

On Mount Washinston.

ON MOUNT WASHINGTON. Passing on four miles by rail we took supper at Fabyan's and remained there until 4:30 Taursday af erason, when the a cent of Mount Washington contained. Modern improvement has so obtinated all necessity or excuse for dangerous and difficult climbing among the White Monorains that all the old romaine of danger and hervice difficult climbing among the White Mountains that all the old romance of danger and heroic achiev, meat has departed. It is simply a rail-road ride to the summit, three miles from the base, up a maximum grade of 2,000 feet to the mile, occupying one and a half hours in the ascent. Half way up the Stork tourists entered a mist and a cloud received them out of sight. The sun set and rose, but no sun for us. With a temperature of 40° and a whild velocity of forty miles an hour an unusual flow of sprits was required to see the fun of the thing. The clerk of the weather at the United States Signal Station was appealed to in vain for one half hour of clear weather. Even the offer of a sheeral compensation produced no result. The Summit House was full to its capacity of 200 guests, all waiting anxiously in the dark and cold and drizale for the cloud to lift iself. The train stated down the mountain at 7, and as the party embarked the cloud rolled away, and a three-minutes' visia of surrounding scenery was vouch-safed, when we again d.sappeared. Perhaps the instantaneous vision marle a more lasting impression than an elaborate inspection would have done.

instantaments vision made a more lasting impression than an elaborate inspection would have done A VOTE OF THANKS.

Our excursion has now reached its terminal point, and will return to lieston to day, where, as the tickets are good for sixty days, via Fall River line and rail to Baltimore, most of us will delay and visit other points. While at the Summit House a unantimous vote of thanks was passed to Mr. W. L. Stork, who conducted the excursion in person, and to his assistant, Mr. Macy. There are certainly great advantages in such a large party under a single hear i for any person wishing simply to make the most of a ten days trip, not only because it is cheaper, but because the arrang ements are more perfect than any individual would make them. A special car was always provided. Excelent rooms at every hotel, however full, were in waiting; no looking after baggage; no contests with hackmen; no care for anything; every comfort provided without additional cost. Ex-Vice-President william A. Wheeler, Washington McLean, of the Cincinnati Engairer; Ex-Altorney-General Perpont, and John T. Lenman, wife, and daughter, of Washington, are at the Fabyan.

Mr. Sibley was introduced to the commission by President Hayes as the largest farmer in the world, and after finishing his statement he gave some facts as to his farming and other business interests. He is the owner of 143 farms which he rents to tenants and of a still larger number which he cultivates. He is the owner of the cel-ebrated 40,000 acre Sullivan farm in Ford County, Hilinois, and of the Howland Island farm in Cayuga County, the largest farm in the State of New York. He cultivates more zeres for the raising of seed than any man in this or any other country, and he is also engaged in the lime, sait, and Lanking business.

Secretary Folger continues at his desk, however, and gives his per-sonal attention to all the important questions that come before the Department. He will go away for a short holiday in a few days.

It is estimated that the bonds embraced in the 116th call amount to about $3,500,000. There were $4,000,000 of this class of bonds outstanding Monday, but the amount was reduced to about $2,500,000 by the surrender of about $100,000 of the 314 per cents, yesterday for transfer into 3s. Mr. W. A. Mr. Phillips, in his letter to Commissioner Price, while regretting that the punishment due to Payne, under the statutes, is inadequate, urged npon the department the necessity of taking all possible legal steps to put a stop to Payne's lawless endeavors to seize Indian lands. The importance of maintaining the faith of treaties and the integ-rity of the Indian Territory inviolate, Mr. Phillips says, is his reason for calling the attention of the department to this matter and urging the prompt application of a remedy The Solicitor of the Treasury has la'ely had referred to him the question whether the selling of a counterfeit United States security to an expert, to be used by him as a specimen in the detection of counterfeits, is in violation of law, Judge Rayner, the Solicitor, has given the opinion that the law does prohibit the sale or gift of counterfelt money. "It is true," says the Sciicitor, "the statute uses the words with intent to defraud." The probability s the law would presume an intent to defraud where profit is realized from the commission of what it declares to be a crime. Every party sell-ing or giving away counterfelt money must judgo of his Hability under the law. An executive officer cannot define the circumstances by which an intent to defraud is to be presumed on the one hand or to be rebutted on the other."

Secretary Folger has under consideration the best plan of carrying into effect the provision of the sections of the Revised Statutes applicable to the inspection of foreign passenger steam vessels indicated in amendment to section 4400 of the Revised Statutes, approved August 7, 1882. The first step to be taken is the appointment of six-teen special inspectors of foreign steam ve sels, of which number six are for duty at New York, two at Boston, two at Baltimore, two at Philadelphia, two at New Orleans, and two at San Francisco, Some difficulty has been experienced in the se-lection of these inspectors, and the list will hardly be completed for two or three weeks. A Horrible Virginia Tragedy. Richmond, Aug. 29.—Intelligence was received here to-day of a horrible tragedy in Charles City County yesterday. For some as yet unexplained ause Mr. James Orange, a respectable farmer, hot and killed his wife with a shotgun white the two were at the house alone. The report of the gun was heard by a negro at work in the field, and upon going to the house found Mrs. Orange lying dead a few feet from the door. The husband surrendered himself to the deputy sherif, but gave no account of the crime. While he was being taken to jail Henry Woodcock, a brother of the murdered woman, attempted to avenge his sistor's death by killing Orange bus was provented by the officers. Orange is said to be a high-tempered man, but was never thought to be insane. Some attribute the crime to jest-ousy, while others say there was no ground for such suspicion. The deceased was about 45 years of age and her husband 50,
